

In a case of need and send him the bill.

All for the Children.

Then he started to rebuild the town on scientific principles. He brought over an engineer from England, Urban H. Broughton, who designed a system of sewers. It was while he was busy here assisting Mr. Rogers to rebuild Fairhaven that Mr. Broughton met Clara Rogers Duff, the second daughter, and married her. Mr. Rogers saw that the town needed a water works, and he had that built. He saw that the streets were muddy tracks, and he devised a system of streets, and asked that he be appointed superintendent of streets at $3 a day and the privilege of having a horse and buggy. Mr. Rogers spent about $50,000 a year on Fairhaven's streets out of his own pocket, the town appropriating less than $10,000 annually for the purpose. He built model homes and rented them at easy rates. They were fine examples of the way houses should be kept up.

Very often, when he found time to come on here for a few days, he would drive in the streets just at the time the children were coming from school. All of them knew who he was, and he liked their smiling recognition. "It's all for the children," he told an old friend of his here in Fairhaven. "They have some of the opportunities now that belong to them. Also, they can look around and see a clean, well-kept town. It gives them right ideas of living. The things they see now they will never forget."

Business Suspended. They spoke of other traits of Mr. Rogers' character as they had seen them exhibited—of how he liked a joke with his old friends, of his fondness for a good story. There was one in particular that was repeated many times, a story that Mr. Rogers was extremely fond of telling. He used to bring up the name of Nathaniel Osborne.

"Nathaniel," he would say, "blew the organ in the old brick church. Somebody asked him how much salary he received. 'Twelve hundred,' 'Twelve hundred?' the questioner would exclaim in astonishment. 'Oh, yes,' Uncle Nat would add, 'but for a hundred years.'"

From 3 o'clock this morning until 4 this afternoon every shop in Fairhaven was closed, the more important ones exhibiting black and white mourning. All the principal buildings were draped in bands of black and white. The red pile of brick where Mr. Rogers operated the largest tack manufactory in the country, taking it out of the hands of a combination that had closed it, and preventing hundreds of men from being thrown out of work, showed wide strips of black and white along its frontage. The Millcent Library, the Town Hall, the Masonic Lodge and dozens of other large buildings bore emblems of mourning.

Many Visit Church. The people of Fairhaven appeared in the streets in black. It was difficult to see anywhere a spot of color, except perhaps in the dresses of some of the children. There was an attempt at spectacular display. Fairhaven endeavored only to show outwardly something of the very real grief that old and young felt.

At 10 o'clock in the morning the body was taken from Mr. Rogers' home, at the end of Fort Avenue, and carried to the Unitarian Memorial Church. The bier was placed within the chancel, where floral wreaths and simple bouquets of orchids and roses hid the altar and covered the coffin itself.

First the school children, more than 400 of them, were admitted. They passed along one side by the coffin and out at the other side of the church. Very many of them were crying when they came into the street.

Afterward the townspeople walked slowly through the church and looked for the last time upon Mr. Rogers' face. It seemed that nearly everybody in Fairhaven came to the memorial church between 11 o'clock and 1 o'clock, and there were many, too, from New Bedford, across the river, and from little towns where Mr. Rogers was almost as well known as he was in Fairhaven. It is unlikely that any man was ever more sincerely mourned by an entire community.

"Berry's for Clothes"

Don't romp and tear and claw the air and claim the tariff isn't fair. If high or low things will go just about as ever, you know.

And we'll continue to give you the best clothing at right prices and it will be in New York style, too.

This week, will a sack suit interest you? The new grays, in the very richest fabrics and exquisitely tailored, $18 to $35.

Blue Sergees—all worsted, last colors—$18, $20 and $25. And all the rich things to wear with them.

Come and see

O. H. Berry & Co.
MEN & BOYS' OUTFITTERS
Successors to the Merchant Tailors

The service in the church began at 2:30 o'clock. None was admitted who could not present a card, a necessity enforced by the limited seating capacity of the church. While the funeral was going on nearly 2,000 of Fairhaven's citizens remained in the street in front of the church. The rain persisted, but very few who were there when the service began went away before the body of Mr. Rogers was started toward the tomb in Riverside Cemetery.

The Rev. Frank L. Phalen, D. D., the pastor of the church, accompanied by the Rev. Robert Collier, D. D., pastor emeritus of the Church of the Messiah in New York, led the funeral procession to the chancel. Behind them walked the Rev. Samuel A. Elliot, D. D., of Boston, son of President Elliot of Harvard. After the ceremony came the honorary pallbearers, Walter P. Winsor, George H. Tripp, Joseph K. Nye, Thomas A. Tripp, John J. Bryant, Job C. Tripp, Frank M. Marsh and George H. Wymouth, of Fairhaven; Zephaniah W. Pease and Dr. C. A. Pratt, of New Bedford, and James M. Beck, William Rockefeller, John D. Ryan and Raymond Dupuy, of New York.

Mrs. Rogers entered the church on the arm of her son, Henry H. Rogers, Jr. The others of the family were Rufus A. Rogers, a brother; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Benjamin, Roger Benjamin and Mrs. Urban H. Broughton, and their two children, and Mr. and Mrs. William R. Cox and their two children.

A Minister's Tribute. A quartet, invisible behind the bank orchids, sang softly, "Lead Kindly Light." The Rev. Dr. Phalen read the Scripture lesson and read an original poem expressing the grief of the community. The quartet sang, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and the Rev. Dr. Collier delivered the sermon. He said that perhaps no one was so well fitted as himself to speak of the character of Henry H. Rogers. Their intimacy had lasted for more than thirty years, and in all that time, said Mr. Collier, he had never known a sweeter, braver, finer man than Henry H. Rogers.

At times Dr. Collier's voice became very unsteady. Several times the electric lights went out for a few minutes, leaving him in the deep shade of the chancel. At such times little of the preacher was to be distinctly seen.

He had his long white hair. He told in detail the life of what Mr. Rogers had done for Fairhaven, and the more interesting story, perhaps, of how Mr. Rogers had tried in every way possible to keep his benefactions from becoming widely publicized.

He had died, said Dr. Collier, from overwork. If ever a man did. Many of his closest friends had implored him to lay aside business cares and give himself the long rest to which his services and his life entitled him. But Mr. Rogers would never do. When Dr. Collier concluded the quartet sang "Abide With Me."

Only the family and the immediate friends accompanied the body to the vault in Riverside Cemetery. As the coffin was carried out of the church all the bells in Fairhaven were tolled slowly and softly. For a few moments, at least, every man in the streets moved his hat. The children were waiting in Cushman Park. At the family tomb the services were very simple and brief. A prayer was said, and Mr. Rogers' body was laid beside his mother, his first wife and his daughter.

The family party, with William Rockefeller, John D. Ryan and others who accompanied them to this town, will return to New York to-morrow, leaving here at 10:30 o'clock on their private train.

SHOT POLICEMEN; CAUGHT BY DOG

Negro Run Down and Captured by One of Bingham's Much Criticized Canines.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NEW YORK, May 22.—One of Police Commissioner Bingham's much criticized dogs is the one responsible to-day and is the captor of a negro who shot Lieutenant John G. Gallagher, now in a serious condition in the King's County Hospital, and Detective Magellan Steine down in Flatbush tonight and then got away from the officers after a running fight. The two policemen had left the Snyder Avenue precinct early in the evening to execute a warrant calling for the arrest of a negro named Joseph Williams, who had been operating around Flatbush and who was accused of annoying many of the servant girls in the neighborhood. They came upon the man standing on the corner of Flatbush and Snyder Avenues.

Gallagher at once approached and told the negro he was under arrest. The negro started to run. The two policemen went after him, and the fugitive, before he had gone fifty feet, opened fire on Detective Steine, catching him in the right arm. The dog, with the first shot, Steine then drew his revolver and fired at the negro, and was positive he hit him in the right shoulder. But the negro escaped.

It happened tonight that two of the police dogs were in the stationhouse at the time. Policeman Edward Smythe, who had the dogs, at once unchained April and started out in pursuit of the negro.

The dog was taken to the lot where the negro was last sight of and turned loose. He snuffed around for only a few minutes and then made off through the middle of the lot toward Butler Street. The dog seemed at a sudden gave a yelp and started off again full tilt down Butler Street toward its junction with Flatbush Avenue. When this corner was reached the dog gave a bounded, and landed between a negro's legs. Down went the negro, and when he tried to get up he found the dog over him and Policeman Smythe on the job also with a drawn revolver. Smythe took his prisoner to the station, and before Steine and the latter at once identified him as the man who had shot him.

A. R. HOLDERBY, JR., ILL

Newspaper Man Undergoes Serious Operation for Appendicitis.

Andrew R. Holderby, Jr., 2500 Stuart Avenue, who was removed to the Memorial Hospital Friday, suffering with an acute case of appendicitis, was operated on yesterday afternoon. Peritonitis developed, and his condition early today was expected to be extremely critical. The operation was performed by Dr. J. S. Hoxley. Mr. Holderby was at his office several days ago, and was then apparently in good health. The disease developed in the last few days. It is said that chances are against his recovery.

Killed at Shooting Gallery.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., May 22.—E. G. Runyan, of Louisville, Ky., president of the Merchants' Ice and Cold Storage Association, was shot and killed at a shooting gallery at Ellery Park.

THE WEATHER

Forecast for Virginia—Partly cloudy and somewhat warmer Sunday; Monday, fair and somewhat warmer; Tuesday, fair and somewhat warmer, becoming variable.

For North Carolina—Partly cloudy and somewhat warmer Sunday; Monday, fair; light, variable winds, mostly northerly.

CONDITIONS YESTERDAY.

Temperature, 8 A. M.	52
Humidity	84
Wind, direction	W. by S.
Wind, velocity	17
Weather	Partly cloudy
Clouds	100
3 P. M. temperature	64
Maximum temperature up to	57
Minimum temperature up to	50
Mercury temperature	62
Normal temperature	63
Deficiency in temperature to-day	17
Deficiency in temperature since	25
March 1	123
Accum. excess in temperature since January	223
Deficiency in rainfall since March 1	0.09
Accum. deficiency in rainfall since January 1	0.27

CONDUCTIONS IN IMPORTANT OFFICES.

(At 8 P. M. Eastern Standard Time.)
 Asheville 56 58 Rain
 Augusta 42 64 Cloudy
 Atlanta 58 58 Rain
 Charlotte 58 58 Rain
 Galveston 76 80 P. cloudy
 Havana 40 45 Cloudy
 Jacksonville 58 60 Rain
 New Orleans 51 56 P. cloudy
 Savannah 54 58 Rain
 St. Louis 58 58 Rain
 Tampa 76 80 Rain
 Wilmington 58 61 Rain

MINIATURE ALMANAC.

May 22, 1929.
 Sun. rises 5:17
 Sun. sets 7:17
 Moon. rises 11:10
 Moon. sets 8:11

Baseball Supplies.

Suits, $1.00 and up. Special prices to teams.
 Shoes, $2.00 per pair.

TENNIS—

Rackets restrung and delivered in 8 hours.
 Nets, Markers, Balls, Tennis Shoes.

FISHING TACKLE—

Steel Rods, any length, $1.50 each.
 Landing Nets, Minnow Buckets, Tackle Boxes.

Everything for the Fisherman.

WATKINS-COTTRELL CO.,
 1311 East Main Street.

UNIVERSITY AS CALVIN MEMORIAL

Overture from Abingdon Presbytery Arouses Great Interest at General Assembly.

QUESTION OF POLYGAMY

Committee to Investigate Charge That Missionaries Are Too Liberal With Heathen.

SAVANNAH, GA., May 22.—A protest against the action taken yesterday by the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church in session here, was filed to-day by the Rev. A. M. Fraser, D. D., of Staunton, Va., who objects to the action of the church in calling on civil government for intervention in behalf of the two American missionaries facing criminal charges in the Congo.

"I am opposed to that," said the Rev. Dr. Fraser, "because from my point of view it is contrary to the historic position of our church, contrary to the spirit of our standards, and contrary to the Scriptures, which teach us that 'Christ's kingdom is not of this world,' and that 'the weapons of our warfare are not carnal.'"

Despite the protest which was in its nature formal, the appeal to President Taft to aid the missionaries, who are to be tried on May 25 at Leopoldville, stands.

Polygamy in Foreign Fields.

Polygamy in foreign fields is the burden of two overtures presented to the assembly by the Charleston and Chesapeake Presbyteries. The latter recites that there is much dissatisfaction among the members of the church on account of the uncertainty as to the status of polygamists in heathen lands applying for membership with the church. It alleges that undue authority is now being exercised by some Presbyterian missionaries in dealing with polygamists. A committee of investigation is asked for. The Charleston overture bases its request for the appointment of such a committee on the statement that certain missionaries have received polygamists into the church and still retain them in good standing. The Chesapeake overture asserts that the principle of non-polygamy should be made clear and beyond the shadow of a doubt.

Work of Calvin.

At noon to-day the Rev. James Orr, D. D., of Glasgow, Scotland, delivered an address upon "Calvin's Attitude Toward the Exegesis of Scripture."

Dr. Orr pictured Calvin as a man greatly misunderstood, declaring that few men in the world's history have ever been placed in a more wrong light than Calvin. He stated that the work of Calvin was to make him many enemies and to invite the fiercest opposition.

Calvin looked at human life and salvation ever in the light of eternal destiny. The doctrine of predestination is simply the actual process of salvation, he said. The doctrine of the visiting commissioners were taken down the Savannah river and out over the bar on a river steamer. Tonight the Rev. John D. Ryan, of Louisville, Ky., delivered a stereoscopic lecture.

To-morrow, the first Sunday of the assembly, the pulpit of the churches of Savannah will be filled by visiting preachers. The Baptists, Christian, Lutheran and Methodist churches extended invitations to-day to the assembly to hold both morning and evening services, and some of the best known ministers of the Presbyterian Church will be heard.

Great University.

Interest was marked to-day in an overture of the Abingdon Presbytery asking the assembly to take steps toward the founding of a great university as a memorial to John Calvin.

NATION AND STATE TO WORK TOGETHER

National Good Roads Congress Adopts Resolutions at Final Session—Cannon Speaks.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22.—The second National Good Roads Congress at the closing session this afternoon adopted resolutions favoring the active co-operation of State and nation in the construction of post-roads and the employment of convict labor in the building and maintenance of public roads. With practical unanimity the congress urged the United States to appropriate at least 1 per cent. of the internal revenue for building and maintaining public roads, providing that any such appropriation shall be an appropriation shall expand an equal amount for the same purpose.

The morning session of the association was addressed among others by W. P. Beasley, of Plymouth, N. C., in a address presented to the association by representative Hughes of Georgia, which he was unable to deliver personally, he said.

"Atlanta and New York are soon to give a demonstration of good roads and automobile endurance from New York to Atlanta. This will be a great contest, and will exercise a notable influence over these States for good roads."

Mrs. Hughes declared that the excess cost of transportation, owing to bad roads in this country, amounted to more than $100,000,000 a year.

Speaker Cannon addressed the afternoon session, saying that in railway construction the State and the nation must keep in touch with the people and the people must also keep in touch with the government. To do this would every one must know what the government costs and the effort to secure appropriations for roads was an overtaxing performance. The speaker said that it was the province of the State governments to conduct experiments for good roads and that it was necessary to arouse public sentiment in favor of their construction. The people should be educated in the cost of building better roads, added Mr. Cannon.

"I have you'll keep on in your good work and in the future of time, at the expense of counties and States, we'll construct good roads," he said.

To Receive Army Funds.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—For the reception, safe-keeping and disbursing of funds advanced by the War Department of the United States Army, the First National Bank of Newport, New York, the Western National Bank of New York, the National Bank of Washington, D. C., the National Bank of Chicago, the National Bank of St. Louis, the National Bank of Kansas City, Mo., and the National Bank of Omaha, Neb., each bank will give $100,000 security.

Finals at Scottsburg.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) SCOTTSBURG, May 22.—The Scottsburg High School closed last night after the best session in its history. The graduates were Misses Sally Lacy, Annie Bray, Mary Roberts, Messrs. Willie Owen, Clinton McKinley and Leonard Mason.

Frederick Graham of Hampden-Sydney College, delivered the commencement address.

OBITUARY

George H. Oliver, a well-known auctioneer and furniture dealer, died at 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning in the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. N. Bowen, on the Patterson Turnpike. He had been ill eight months.

For thirty-eight years he conducted an auction house on the north side of Broad Street, retiring several years ago. He was succeeded by his sons, George B. and Owen O. Oliver, and one daughter, Mrs. J. N. Bowen. The funeral will be held from Asbury Methodist Church, Manchester, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be in Maury Cemetery.

W. T. Martin, of 1000 East Broad Street, died at his residence at 3 o'clock Saturday morning, in the thirty-fifth year of his age. He is survived by his widow and two children—Mrs. D. J. Martin, of this city, and Mrs. R. L. Jones, of Hampton. The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Trinity M. E. Church.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Talley Fairbank, wife of Hugh W. Fairbank, 1113 Brook Road, who died Friday morning, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from Clay Street Methodist Church.

Mrs. Sallie S. Wren, of this city, sister of Mrs. Jones O. Wren, died suddenly in Hampton last night, at the residence of her niece, Mrs. Robt. Francis, Jr. The funeral notice will be announced later.

Michael Kirshner.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) LYNCHBURG, Va., May 22.—Michael Kirshner, aged fifty-two, a native of Russia, and a noted inventor, died at his home here late to-day, after two days' illness. He leaves a widow and six children. Mr. Kirshner came to America twenty years ago, and has since been engaged in the machine company of Lynchburg. He was the inventor of a rotary cotton seed oil extractor machine, and had been engaged in perfecting an automatic loom, which would revolutionize cotton making when completed.

He remains will be taken to Philadelphia to-morrow for burial. As a citizen Mr. Kirshner enjoyed the esteem of the people of Lynchburg in a remarkable manner.

Rev. Thomas A. Morris.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 22.—Rev. Thomas A. Morris, D. D., died yesterday, for sixty years a Protestant Episcopal minister, died at Baltimore yesterday. He is survived by a widow, one son, Thomas A. Morris, Jr., of Gaston, Ala.; three daughters—Mrs. Ida Jervoy of Asheville, Mrs. O. C. Pinkney, of Charleston, and Miss Anna Morris, of Asheville. The funeral will be at Calvary Church, Bethesda, Sunday afternoon.

David M. Cassell.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WYTHEVILLE, VA., May 22.—David M. Cassell, citizen of Wythe county and an old Confederate soldier, died at his home about five miles east from Wytheville this morning at 3 o'clock.

IN MEMORIAM

BOSSIEUX.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear friend BOSSIEUX, who died two years ago to-day, May 22, 1927.

I have a sacred gem,
 A pure and loving pearl;
 It has no earthly setting,
 But is framed in heaven's own gold.

Once this pearl was in my keeping,
 And I prized and loved it most;
 But now it has been placed to rest,
 Amidst the heavenly host.

So now it is far, far from me,
 But the memory of his face,
 For the Father took my treasure
 And upon it has put His seal.

Yes, the Father wanted His pearl;
 In His glorious mansions on high,
 But He will restore it sevenfold,
 In the beautiful sweet by-and-by.

How I long for the sight of his face!
 My pearl, so perfect and white!
 But I must wait; when next I behold it,
 It will be by the heavenly light.

Affliction sore so long time she bore,
 Physicians' skill was vain;
 Till God was pleased that death should seize
 And cause her of her pain.

When you ask me, "Do I miss her?"
 Yes, at this time my heart with pain,
 But her spirit gently whispers:
 "Take courage, my husband; we'll meet again."

It is not a pleasant thought that one way remains to us of adding to the happiness of departed friends in Paradise, that is, by laboring for the salvation of souls and for the honor of Him they delight to praise.

BY HER HUSBAND.

CARLETON.—In the recent death of Mrs. IDA A. CARLETON, who died on Monday, May 17, at 1:30 P. M., we have lost a true and devoted friend, a woman of high character, who lived for the benefit of others, and who was one of the brightest and most loved friends. Mrs. Carleton was the daughter of L. V. Wilkerson, of Cumberland County, and was raised and educated in that community. She early in life became a member of the Methodist Church, and was ever a faithful and consistent member. She married Granville M. Carleton, of No. 203 East Clay Street, and has two sons, Granville M. Carleton, Jr., and one daughter, Lizzie Louise, who, with her husband, survive her.

Mrs. Carleton was noted for her kind and sympathetic deeds and words, and will be missed by many who knew her but to lovers. Her bereaved family and the many friends who have been comforted by her path of her entire neighborhood.

A FRIEND.

TIMBERLAKE.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear mother, MRS. MARTHA C. TIMBERLAKE, who died on Monday, May 20, 1929.

Remember you have gone, but you are not forgotten by your loving children.

BY HER CHILDREN.

Mrs. Housekeeper,

Have you ever thought of the annoyances, the many useless steps, the loss of time and material in the average kitchen?

A Rother Kitchen Cabinet lessens the work, saves time and makes kitchen work a pleasure. Prices on Rother's Cabinets, $11 and upwards.

An Excelsior Gas Range

Means much to you—it cooks and bakes anything, needs no attention, and keeps down your gas bills. Wherever you find an Excelsior you'll certainly meet a satisfied customer. Excelsior Gas Ranges sell at $10.00 to $35.00.

Monarch, Climax, and Our Special Refrigerators

Fill the wants of all requiring a good food keeper at a very small outlay.

All have large storage chambers, use very little ice and keep the food properly. Ice Boxes and Nursery Refrigerators.

Don't Be Misled

Into the belief that you pay more for a watch when you buy it from Rother's—it's not so—as an instance, Howard Watches, a watch with a world-wide reputation for perfect time qualities, used by those who require absolute correctness, those to whom a second's loss means perhaps the lives of hundreds of people. Heat, cold nor position can alter the reliability of a Howard Watch. Price them at any jeweler's, then come to us. You'll find you can buy it from us at the same price, cash or credit.

Rother & Co.

FURNITURE. CARPETS. STOVES.

FOURTH & BROAD STS., RICHMOND, VA.

DEATHS

MARTIN.—Died, last Saturday morning, at 3 o'clock, at his residence, 700 East Broad St., W. T. MARTIN, in the thirty-fifth year of his age. He is survived by his widow and two sisters, Mrs. D. J. Martin, of this city, and Mrs. R. L. Jones, of Hampton, Va.

"Asleep in Jesus."

SCOTT.—Departed, May 22, at 3 o'clock, at his residence, 601 North Street, HARRY SCOTT, aged twenty-nine years. He is survived by his mother, sister and father and a host of friends.

"Asleep in Jesus."

OLIVER.—Died, Saturday, May 22, at 9:22 A. M., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. N. Bowen, CHARLES H. OLIVER, in his sixty-first year.

Funeral THIS (Sunday) AFTERNOON at 3 o'clock, at Trinity M. E. Church, Manchester. Friends and acquaintances are invited.

FAIRLAMB.—Died, Friday, May 21, at 6:30 A. M., at the home of her father-in-law, Mr. E. R. Fairbank, 1113 Brook Road, Mrs. ANNIE FAIRLEY, wife of Hugh W. Fairbank.

Funeral THIS (Sunday) AFTERNOON at 3:30 o'clock from Clay Street M. E. Church. Friends of the family invited to attend.

WREN.—Died suddenly Saturday night at the residence of her niece, Mrs. Robert Francis, Jr., of Hampton, Mrs. SALLIE S. WREN, of this city.

Funeral notice later.

Too Late for Classification.

LARGE, NICELY FURNISHED ROOM for rent, convenient to bath. Apply No. 7 North Third Street.

LOST YOUNG BLACK AND WHITE pointer dog. A liberal reward will be paid for its return. Apply to C. BASLEY, River View, or 1111 East Main.

This Bank Offers Free

Protection for your money, free advice on questions of banking, free service in the collecting of notes, drafts, etc., for its patrons. With such advantages as easy to accept you cannot afford to keep your money at home or invest it in risky schemes that seldom pay.

Our Savings Department Pays 3% Compound Interest

From the day of deposit. If you have never opened a bank account start now. $1 or more is sufficient. Write for "How to Bank by Mail." It's free.

PLANTERS NATIONAL BANK,

RICHMOND, VIRGINIA.
 Capital, $300,000.00 Surplus and Profits, $1,160,000.00